Flood Impact/Recovery Update
There are three areas in the Gaines Technology Center, including the conference center, which have some outstanding items to complete.

As a result of the flood, an opportunity to make changes based on the evolving needs of the institution have become possible. The Auditorium seating is thirty years old, and has been damaged/repaired twice. The College will be receiving a credit of $13,000 towards new seating and the Foundation Board has graciously agreed to fund the $67,000 balance from unrestricted monetary gifts by the many supporters of the college. The Foundation’s gift is consistent with the intention and stated purposes: “assist with the development and enhancement of programs and facilities at Black River Technical College for broader educational opportunities for and services to its students, its faculty and staff, its former students, the residents of Randolph County and northeastern Arkansas, and finally to the entire citizenry of Arkansas.”

There will be some nominal painting costs absorbed by the College in areas unaffected by the flood, including the Multipurpose room and western entrance. The project will begin after Winter Commencement in December. Next summer, there are plans to improve the lighting and acoustics.
Finance Committee Recommendation
The enrollment target of 35,885 Student Semester Credit Hours (SSCHs) reflects a modest 3% increase in enrollment for the 2018-2019 Academic Year. The goal is informed by mitigating factors including the return of Pell grants in the Summer of 2018, and realistic Fall to Spring attrition rates of 10% (based on a three-year trend).

Carolyn Collins moved the Board of Trustees of BRTC recommends the College Administration develop the budget based on 35,885 SSCHs with a second by Ruth Ann Ellis. Unanimous.

Policies and Procedures Updates
A listing of the Policies and Procedures revisions/deletions was provided by the HR Department for review. Some of the revisions are to clarify in-house procedures while others are a result of legislative or ADHE changes.

Ray Noel moved the Board of Trustees for BRTC accept the revisions/deletions of the Policies and Procedures Manual as presented by Administration with a second by David Coker. Unanimous.

ACADEMIC AFFAIRS – Dr. Sheila Taylor

Higher Learning Commission Update
The College is in the process of completing all Course Level Assessment Data Reports (CLADR), and the Program Level Assessment Data Reports (PLADR). The CLADR measures the degree to which the course outcomes have been successfully met, while the PLADR measures the degree to which the program outcomes have been successfully met. Currently, the CLADRs are about 90% complete, with 50% completion on the PLADRs. Additionally, the mapping of the General Education courses is complete, which include the following areas of competency: critical thinking, quantitative reasoning, communication, global learning, information literacy, and communication.

Scheduling
The spring schedule has been finalized. A revamped approach to scheduling will include a schedule offering Monday-Saturday classes offered during the day and evenings. The previous schedule worked well when people in the service area were out of work, but the economy is better and people are back to work; the intent is to expand the offerings to better serve the region.

The College is also expanding its online offerings. The faculty are developing more online courses; modest additional offerings will be made in the spring, and with many more in Fall 2018. It is the intention for the majority of the degree programs to be completed in variety of modalities: traditional delivery, online delivery, or a combination of the two – whichever suits the learner’s goals. Course and program offering are also being expanded at the Paragould site.

ENROLLMENT MANAGEMENT – Angela Flippo

Recruiting/Admissions Update
In an effort to expand and enhance the recruiting efforts at BRTC, an enrollment management model has been implemented to enable staff to strategically and intentionally recruit, admit, enroll, and retain traditional and non-traditional students. Restructuring has occurred to better represent the new model. Angie French was promoted to serve as the Director of Admissions. She will be responsible for overseeing the area of recruitment for traditional and non-traditional students. Two full-time admissions counselors in an effort to maximize recruiting. One admissions counselor will be responsible for the Pocahontas area, and the second counselor will take care of the Paragould area. In the past, Mrs. French was the only person employed to actively recruit students for both locations.

Prospective students typically apply to 5 and 6 different institutions of higher learning. Therefore, recruiting efforts are more important than ever as colleges and universities compete for students. In the enrollment management plan, processes and procedures are being reviewed to be more student friendly and streamlining communications within the offices. Previously, departments within Student Services were compartmentalized and did not communicate with students in a holistic manner. Communication flows are being created for prospective students, applicants, parents, high school counselors, and educational programming.
Weekly applicant reports for the fall and spring semesters are now being generated and submitted to the Director of Admissions and Mrs. Flippo. Monthly and end of the year goals are being developed for the number of applicants, accepted applicants and enrollees for each semester. The Paragould and Pocahontas locations will be under the same enrollment management plan to ensure both locations are using the same communication plans and the same policies and procedures.

A claim has been filed with FEMA for the deductible as well as over $35,000 in administrative costs related to the flood. FEMA will pay 75%.
